Maths has always been my favourite subject.

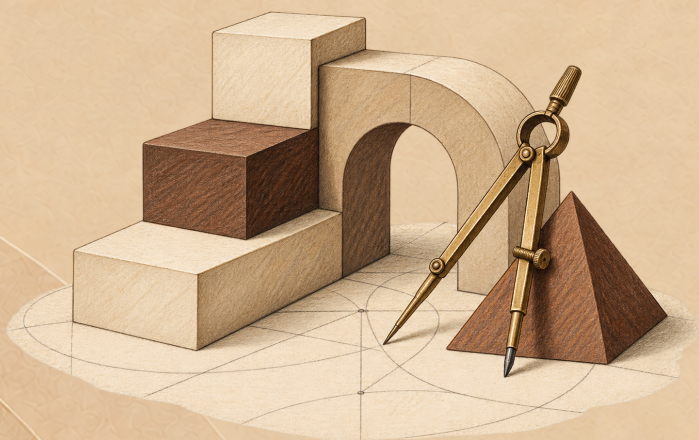

Numberjacks was one of my favourite shows growing up. Over time, that early love of maths became a love of solving problems for myself.

Mission

Clear Direction

Wanting to improve at maths is one thing. Knowing where to start can be harder.

I built Equavo to help students find their gaps, get clear help and turn what they learn into progress.

Strong Foundations

I believe strong foundations give students the confidence to tackle a wide range of maths questions and walk into their exams feeling ready.
